

Nearly finished the Technician Grade Course ?

1. Can you make this ?

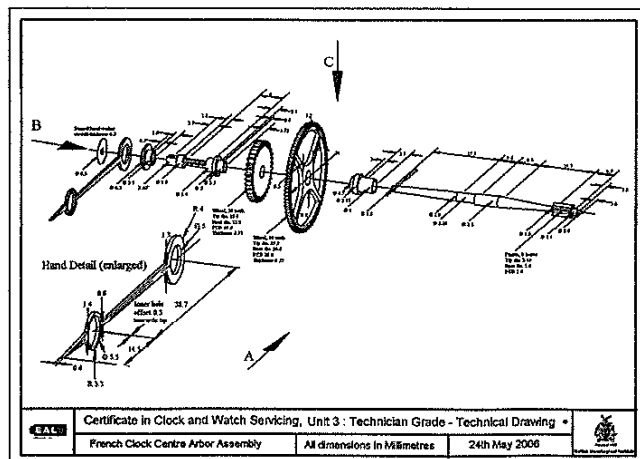

Practical Test Piece, Technician Grade : Unit 2 : Basic Practical Workshop Processes, November 2006

2. Do you know the answer ?

- Draw a diagram showing clearly the forked end of the lever and double roller assembly in a jewelled lever escapement. Label the following items: impulse roller, safety roller, impulse pin, passing crescent, horns, guard pin, banking pins, and the left and right flanks of the notch. (10 marks)
- Describe the safety action of the escapement and explain why it is necessary. (4 marks)
- Use notes and sketches to show how regulation is most commonly achieved in a watch fitted with this type of escapement. (6 marks)

Examination Question, Technician Grade : Unit 3 : Theory of Clock and Watch Servicing, November 2006

3. Can you draw this ?

Paper, Technician Grade : Unit 3 : Technical Drawing, May 2006

Gain an Accredited Qualification; enter the May Examination - ring Maxine 01636 817 604 – NOW !

Answers to Questions 2 and 3 can be found, together with specimen papers, on the Institute Website – www.bhi.co.uk – Training - Exams
Closing date for entries 23rd March 2007